

Fashion technologist

Do you have at least 3 years as apparel technologist experience in a textile Company?

Are you interested in working for a company with West European, corporate culture?

Do you speak/write fluent English and/or French?

We are an international textile company, who has established an office in Sofia and looking for an experienced and positive professional who will be covering the below tasks and requirements:

Responsibilities:

- Following up all sample flow including proto, fit protos and salesman samples
- Day to day follow up of development issues – technical sheets, patterns, samples, fitting, ordering and chasing labels/trims where necessary
- Creating size charts and garment specs
- Reviewing the fit and construction of each sample, providing clear and accurate written amendment instructions to the pattern makers and ateliers
- Proactive approach to all tasks and projects, out of the box thinking and support the cooperation among team members, innovation in place to ensure proper process and policy construction
- Hand sketch and technical drawings, set up spec sheets for pattern maker and production use
- Prepare detailed description of the process/technology to be followed for sewing a style as part of the technical spec
- Attend fittings and collaborate with other team members for adherence to quality and brand standards

Full time job Requirements

- A fashion technologist degree from a respected institution
- At least 3 years' experience with high end brands with a proven track record
- Advanced understanding of garment construction, fit and fabric finishes
- Excel, Word, PowerPoint, Photoshop, Illustrator skills
- Highly organized communicator with an attention to detail
- Ability to travel internationally/passport required
- Highly organised, able to manage
- Excellent eye for detail
- Have a strong ability to multi-task, be very organised
- A positive, entrepreneurial and can-do attitude is extremely important

The successful candidate will be a team player with a sense of humor, a strong sense of personal style, exceptional original design skill, and have a genuine passion and understanding of luxury designer fashion.

The Company offers

- An opportunity to work in an international growing company in the fashion industry;

- A perfect environment for your personal and professional development
- An interesting job giving the opportunity communicate with different partners, in different locations around the world;
- Add value to the company being part of a highly professional and open-minded, dynamic team
- Full time job