

Digital marketing intern

Job Description

Kai Medical is a digital therapy company, offering a guided process for positive behavior change with the help of software products and services to other businesses. The company is trying to solve the problem of working long hours on a computer, without regular physical activity, as this leads to the development of chronic pain diseases and muscular-skeletal disorders.

We're currently looking for a digital marketing intern to help us improve our positioning and brand.

More about you

- Graduate or student in one of the following specialties: Marketing; Marketing and Sales
- Your written and spoken level of English is very high
- Proactive and energetic person
- Work-oriented and professional attitude
- Self-organized, easily sticks to a schedule
- Basic computer skills

What will you be doing:

- Help develop the company marketing plan
- Plan and execute social media and email campaigns
- Track and analyze statistics and key metrics
- Prepare white papers and company materials

What we can offer you:

- 6 months upskilling period (could be 4 or 8 hours a day, depending on the person)
- The opportunity to work on a marketing strategy from the ground up
- Professional and personal growth
- Becoming part of a team of young and motivated people
- Fun work environment

More about our team

At Kai Medical we believe in quality work and proper care for people. With the right attention to physical and mental wellbeing, companies can improve working conditions and achieve new heights.

Kai Medical where you make the change

The whole concept of the company started as a need for changing our work-life balance in order to stay healthy and fit. We often try new ways of eating, training and resting. We also believe in our employees uniqueness. We do not discriminate in age, gender, sexuality, ethnicity, color or whatever you can think of. Moreover we embrace difference and use it as a competitive advantage and as a focal point in our company culture. Your opinion is always important and you are welcome to share your experience and opinion with everyone, anytime you see fit.

Do you feel like becoming a part of the community? Send us a short resume with what you think best describes you. If you feel like it, shoot a short video saying HI!

Note

We screen ALL CVs, but will contact only selected candidates. Thanks for the understanding.
E-mail for contact and application: office@kaimedicalhealth.com